

Socially Responsible and Sustainable Business: Online Short Courses

Risks of Human Trafficking and Slavery for Supply Chain Professionals

CONTENT MATTER EXPERTS

ABOUT ONLINE LEARNING

VIEW A DEMO

REGISTRATION & FEES

CONTACT US

HOME

100% ONLINE COURSE—START ANYTIME!

The California Transparency in Supply Chains Act (SB 657) requires retailers and manufacturers doing business in California to publicly declare their efforts to train company employees and management on human trafficking and slavery in supply chains.

Retailers and manufacturers need a time-efficient, concise and globally available learning resource for sourcing managers to gain experience about human trafficking and slavery in supply chains, both for their own corporate social responsibility goals, and to comply with the California law. This online short course provides foundational knowledge and skills using scenarios modified from actual business cases.

- Be aware of human trafficking and slavery in supply chains
- Identify human trafficking and slavery risks in company supply chains
- Support prevention and mitigation efforts when human trafficking and slavery is suspected

Instructors

This is a joint course offered by the University of Delaware and the Cahn Group, LLC, a corporate responsibility consultancy. Course creators and instructors are Marsha Dickson, Ph.D., a leading authority on corporate responsibility in supply chains, and Doug Cahn, a 20-year veteran of corporate responsibility programs. More...

Contact us

302-831-7600 (local)
866-820-0238 (toll-free long distance)
email SRS-Biz@udel.edu

New online courses from the University of Delaware

- Human Rights of Workers in Supply Chains
- Textile and Apparel Product Safety
- Impact of Corporate Purchasing Practices
- Learn more...

